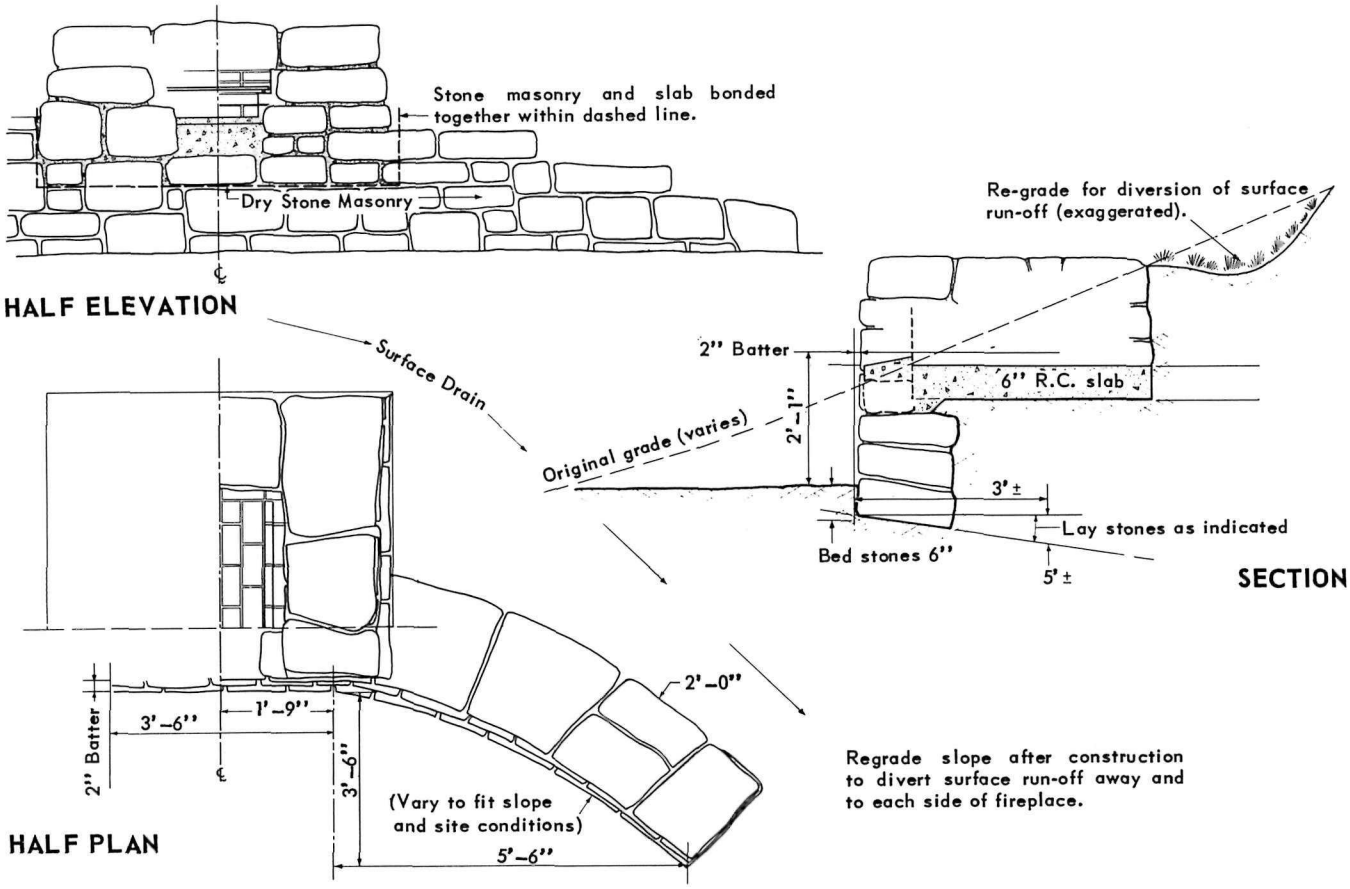
A fireplace of native stone in full harmony with surrounding park values. This design from one of the New Jersey state parks places the cooking grill at a comfortable working elevation. Unlike most elevated fireplaces and grills, this one does not appear to be 'forced'; it appears, rather, to be an integral part of the slope into which it is built.

If desired, fuel storage space could be incorporated into the wall on either side of this facility.



0' 1' 2' 3'

The National Conference on State Parks in cooperation with The National Park Service			FIREPLACE
date May 1959	plate 110 B		Contributed by NEW JERSEY Dept. of Conservation & Economic Development Plan No. 1-12 2.52.4
index R-4210	control C-0069-R		