You will find buffalo meat for yourselves, and cottonwood bark for your horses. . .

When the summer heat scorches the prairies, you can draw up under the mountains, the grass fresh, and the bright streams come tumbling out of the snow banks. There you can hunt elk, the deer, and the antelope, when their skins are fit for dressing; there you will find plenty of bears and mountain sheep. In the autumn, when your horses are fat and strong from the mountain pastures, you can go

---

A description by Arapooish, a Crow Indian chief, as it was for natives.