

Keweenaw Heritage Site

Partner of Keweenaw National Historical Park

Ontonagon Harbor Lighthouse & Museum

Ontonagon County Historical Society

422 River Street

Ontonagon, Michigan

Standing where the Ontonagon River flows into Lake Superior is the 1866 Ontonagon Harbor Lighthouse. Tour it for the best experience of the history of the harbor town called Ontonagon.

Beginning with prehistoric copper mining and the quest for the Ontonagon Boulder, the Ojibwe village at the mouth of the river became the copper mining capital of the 1850s. The museum's exhibits span thousands of years taking you from the geologic beginning through mining, lumbering, commercial fishing, farming, and more.

Open Mid-May to Mid-October

Call or check our website for hours of operation:

906-884-6165

www.ontonagonmuseum.org

Ontonagon County
Historical Society

Go-Day-Quay
(Mother Ontonagon)
an Ojibwe elder in 1895

World's Fair Load of Logs: 36,055 feet in 50 logs