

National Park Service
U.S. Department of the Interior

Lake Meredith National Recreation Area
Alibates Flint Quarries National Monument

The Panhandle Experience

Nestled within the Canadian River Breaks, Lake Meredith National Recreation Area and Alibates Flint Quarries National Monument offer visitors the opportunity to connect with a unique landscape that has attracted people for 13,000 years.

Journey Back in Time

Start your visit with a morning walk to the Alibates Quarries. Hear the tale of a stone that was so useful and valuable that it was used by indigenous people for thousands of years.

Arrowhead knapped from Alibates Flint. NPS Photo.

The abundant flint drew people here, but the land provided many other resources for their daily needs. Plants and animals, like yucca and bison, were found abundantly on the High Plains and provided materials not only for food and clothing, but for shelter, medicine.

Left: A petroglyph carved into a dolomite boulder overlooks the Canadian River valley.

Above: A boater enjoys the sunset on Lake Meredith. Photo courtesy of Charles Gillingham.

Wildflowers are abundant throughout the spring and summer. NPS Photo.

Hike, Mountain Bike, Boat, Camp and Have Fun

Today's visitors enjoy the Canadian River Valley and these same resources in ways unimagined centuries ago. In 1965, the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation impounded the river, creating Lake Meredith and a variety of new recreational opportunities.

Today, boating, fishing, hunting and camping remain popular activities. However, the lake has changed a lot over the last 50 years, and fluctuating lake levels have opened up areas for new activities. The National Park Service continues to extend trails for hiking, mountain biking, and trail running.

When you visit, watch for today's inhabitants - turkey, whitetail deer, collared lizards, bobcat, and especially the Texas State Reptile - The Texas Horned Lizard.

Dip your toes into the Lake. Explore the many miles of trails. Listen to the birds singing nearby. Immerse yourself in your surroundings and you may start to feel why this place was so special for so many people throughout the centuries.

For further information contact:
Lake Meredith National Recreation Area
Alibates Flint Quarries National Monument
P.O. Box 1460
Fritch, TX 79036
(806) 857-3151