

The Active Trails program promotes healthy lifestyles while simultaneously protecting and enhancing precious land and water trail resources. This multi-faceted program offers many ways in which volunteers, community groups, corporate partners, students and educators can get involved with their national parks through hands on trail work, citizen science, formal and informal learning activities, special events and community activities. REACH HIGHER promotes hiking for fitness. Hiking is great way to burn calories, improve heart health, and explore your public lands.

LASSEN VOLCANIC NATIONAL PARK

REACH HIGHER TRAIL CHALLENGE

WHY REACH HIGHER?

Take your fitness to new heights with Lassen's new Reach Higher Trail Challenge. Whether taking a vigorous hike or a gentle stroll, exercising outside can improve physical health as well as emotional and mental well-being.

Regular exercise can lower risk of heart disease, help lower blood pressure, and reduce obesity. Add the great outdoors to help relieve stress, improve vitamin D levels, and instill a sense of well-being.

TAKE THE CHALLENGE

To participate in the Reach Higher Trail Challenge, complete the number of hikes at the challenge level that is best for you. For each hike, note the date completed and your approximate calories burned based on your weight and time spent hiking each trail (round-up to nearest weight or time).

1. Select your challenge level.
2. Hike any park trail that meets the challenge specifications.
3. Note your approximate calories burned for each hike from the table provided.
4. Present your challenge log to a park ranger to receive your free bandana.
