

Welcome to your National Park Treasure Trail! The trail is filled with monuments, parks, lakeshores, battlefields, recreation areas, historical sites and lots more. Use the clues to name the National Park Site and hike the trail to find out where it is located. Write down the names of other National Parks you find along the way. Learn as much as you can about these national treasures. See how many different places you can find. Explore your own community to see what treasures you have in your own backyard.

- 1 This huge wilderness of more than 2 million acres became the world's first national park in 1872. It got its name from the color of its rock formations.
- 2 America's highest mountain is the centerpiece of this park, which is larger than the state of Massachusetts.
- 3 The President of the United States lives here, at the most famous address in the country.
- 4 This park honors the place where Martin Luther King, Jr. was born.
- 5 This is the place where Abraham Lincoln delivered his famous address.
- 6 This park is home to giant cactuses which can soak up as much as 200 gallons of water.
- 7 Lewis and Clark outfitted here for their epic exploration of the Louisiana Purchase. A tram ride carries passengers to the top of the famous 630 foot arch.
- 8 This park has a wildlife refuge tucked in the middle of a big city.
- 9 The waters gushing from these springs at an average rate of 850,000 gallons a day are more than 4,000 years old.
- 10 More than half of the glaciers in the contiguous United States are found in this park.

National Parks America's Treasures

America's National Parks are national treasures. Like snapshots in a family album, our national parks tell the story of America - its wondrous places, momentous events, and unforgettable people.

We hope you will have fun exploring these incredible treasures with the young people in your life. As owners of this national family tree, we must all share the responsibility for its care and protection. Here are some ways you can help:

Participate in park programs. Learn all you can about your nearest National Park. Educate others about the parks and their resources. Donate your time and become a park volunteer. Give to local national park support groups. Enlist the support of your local, state, and federal representatives.

Take the PLEDGE today to protect the parks now and for future generations.

NATIONAL PARKS AMERICA'S TREASURES

National Parks are exciting places to explore our country's great beauty and to learn the rich lessons of our past. The General Sherman Tree, the largest redwood in Sequoia National Park, California and the Statue of Liberty National Monument in New York Harbor represent only two of over 360 National Park sites that make up America's Treasures. Join the Peanuts Gang as they hunt for these treasures around the nation.
