

U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service

Ash Meadows

National Wildlife Refuge

“Ash Meadows is one of the most important natural areas on the North American continent.”
- The Nature Conservancy

Explore Your Refuge

Where the desert springs to life!

© Judy Palmer/
Amargosa Conservancy

USFWS

USFWS

Ash Meadows National Wildlife Refuge, located 30 minutes from Death Valley National Park, is the largest remaining oasis in the Mojave Desert with at least 26 plant and animal species found nowhere else on the planet.

Our ADA accessible boardwalks offer unique experiences.

Crystal Spring Boardwalk leads to a brilliant blue spring flowing at 2,800 gallons of water per minute.

Journey back to the days of the Wild West inside the historic stone cabin of infamous gunslinger Jack Longstreet.

Point of Rocks is a visitor favorite, complete with a picnic area, viewing scopes, and Kings Spring, the home of a rare species of pupfish.

The refuge is open daily from sunrise to sunset.

For more information, call the visitor center at 775/372 5435 or visit our website: www.fws.gov/refuge/ash_meadows

Ash Meadows National Wildlife Refuge
610 Spring Meadows Road
Amargosa Valley, NV 89020

May 2016