

Antietam National Battlefield

Clara Barton

Clara Barton

Born: December 25, 1821 in North Oxford, Mass.

Died: April 12, 1912 in Glen Echo, Maryland

Seeing the bandages, lanterns, and food Clara Barton brought to his Antietam field hospital, Union Surgeon Charles Dunn called her “The Angel of the Battlefield.” After the war Barton established the American Red Cross, which still continues to provide care and comfort to those in need.