

Homestead National Monument Of America

Rachel Bella Calof

In 1894 Calof traveled from Russia to America to meet the man arranged to be her husband. They made their way to North Dakota seeking others who immigrated to the U.S. to claim land under the Homestead Act. Her account tells the hardships endured by both women and immigrants during U.S. expansion.

To learn more, visit: www.nps.gov/home

NATIONAL PARK SERVICE