

1860 U.S. Presidential Election Campaign Buttons

During the 1860 Presidential election, the nation was on the brink of disunion over slavery. Four candidates offered solutions to the crisis – Abraham Lincoln (Republican), Stephen Douglas (Northern Democrat), John Breckinridge (Southern Democrat) and John Bell (Constitutional Union). Lincoln vowed to uphold the Union and prevent the expansion of slavery.

To learn more, visit: www.nps.gov/liho

NATIONAL PARK SERVICE