GRAND TETON NATIONAL PARK

WYOMING

The spectacular Teton Range, reflected in the smooth lake waters of early morning, attracts millions of visitors each year to Grand Teton National Park. The absence of foothills lends an air of drama to the jagged, steep-sided mountains which seem to burst out of the valley in bold fashion.

Indeed, the lakes are popular for both fishing and boating, and just admiring, with Jenny Lake and Jackson Lake being two of the favorites.

Wildflower lovers will delight in the glorious displays of buttercups, scarlet gila, lupine, yellowbells, and forget-me-nots.

SPECIAL INFORMATION

Fishing is allowed in most of the lakes and streams; Wyoming state fishing license required. All trails are dirt and rocks • Superintendent, Grand Teton National Park, P.O. Drawer 170, Moose, WY 83012, (307) 739-3399.
