

Cape Chronicle

November 5, 2020 | Issue 66

Photos of the Week

Incredible sunrise at Cape Point on October 21st.

Seashore Updates

- As Veterans Day approaches, Superintendent Hallac wishes to thank the many United States Armed Forces veterans that work at the three local national park units, and the veterans that live on and visit the Outer Banks. Entrance fees to Wright Brothers National Memorial are waived on Veterans Day, November 11.
- On Halloween morning, Seashore biological technicians discovered a freshly dug green sea turtle nest almost a mile west of South Beach Road on Hatteras Island. The nest will reach its hatch window of 50-55 days between December 20 and 25. According to data on seaturtle.org, this nest is the latest laid sea turtle nest at the Seashore since at least 1997.

Did you know?

At the start of the 1900s, meteorologists from the U.S. Weather Bureau set up a weather station on Hatteras Island to gain a better understanding of weather patterns.

Read more about the U.S. Weather Bureau Station located in Hatteras, NC.

Photo of the late season green sea turtle nest found near South Beach Road.

Photos

News Releases

Website

Beach Access

Camping

Lighthouses

Nature

Swimming

Fishing

OBX Forever

Connect with Cape Hatteras National Seashore on social media

Cape Hatteras National Seashore's Cape Chronicle e-Newsletter provides brief, timely, and newsworthy content throughout the year. For more information about America's first national seashore, visit www.nps.gov/caha.

The National Park Service preserves unimpaired the natural and cultural resources and values of the National Park System for the enjoyment, education, and inspiration of this and future generations. The Park Service cooperates with partners to extend the benefits of natural and cultural resource conservation and outdoor recreation throughout this country and the world.

