Capture of John Brown

The Capture of John Brown

Fact: Lee's aide at Harpers Ferry was J.E.B. Stuart, who would become his top cavalry officer in the Civil War.

Ninety U.S. Marines led by Army Lieutenant Colonel Robert E. Lee ended John Brown's Raid when the Marines broke into the armory's fire engine house where Brown and his followers were trapped.

Brown, though injured, was taken to Charles Town for trial. During the attack, U.S. Marine Private Luke Quinn was killed.
