

Family of Mr. Willis Wright

One Man, One Vote

Mr. Willis Wright

Willis Wright, a close friend of the Carters, was the first African American to successfully register to vote at the Webster County courthouse in 1960. Starting in 1958, the Georgia General Assembly required registrants to answer thirty challenging legal questions. The law was selectively enforced to screen out and suppress African American voters.