

“American Indian Bill of Rights”

Equal Protection Under the Law

President Lyndon B. Johnson wanted to bring all Americans into a “Great Society.” He understood that the rights of the first Americans were in jeopardy. The Indian Civil Rights Act of 1968 gave American Indians equal rights under the law.

To learn more, visit: www.nps.gov/lyjo

NATIONAL PARK SERVICE