

Freedom's Frontier

NATIONAL HERITAGE AREA

FY2023 ANNUAL REPORT

What is Freedom's Frontier?

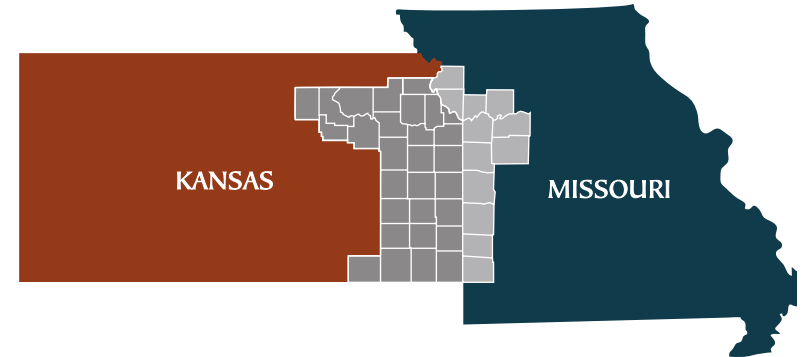

If you live along the Missouri-Kansas border, how you tell the story of freedom often depends on where you call home.

Along this border, a new nation set out in a long trek across the ancestral lands of Native Americans to settle the frontier and, in the process, hoped to find economic and religious freedom.

Along this border, the nation violently collided in skirmishes that helped instigate the Civil War.

Along this border, millions of Americans fought—over school segregation, over Native-American rights, over suffrage, over the right to choose how to live and love—in the enduring struggle for freedom.

Freedom's Frontier National Heritage Area brings together the histories that started here but grew to change the course of history for the entire country, whether it is the history of the settlement of the frontier, the Kansas-Missouri Border War and Civil War, or the enduring struggle for freedom.

Freedom's Frontier knits together the histories of the settlement of the frontier, the Border War and Civil War, and the enduring struggle for freedom into one American fabric. Its threads contain the remarkable histories from its partners: historical sites, museums, convention and visitor bureaus, educators, and support societies. Each is deeply invested in telling these stories.

More than three million people call Freedom's Frontier home. More than 30,000 square miles fall in the 41 counties that define Freedom's Frontier in both Missouri and Kansas. As we end our seventeenth year of operation, over 250 organizations have partnered with us.

A Message from Kevin Wood Trustee Chair, 2023

Dear readers,

As we close another fiscal year, I am pleased Freedom's Frontier has flourished so successfully with our new Executive Director, Lucinda Adams, now in place. Her work to engage the board in steps to realize our strategic plan has been outstanding.

Throughout the year, Freedom's Frontier has remained steadfast in its mission to promote heritage tourism across our 41 counties in order to develop the local economy and preserve our history. We are proud to report significant accomplishments or improvements in the areas of partner meetings, newsletters, and partner outreach.

Our various programs and initiatives have continued to support our 250+ partners up and down the Missouri and Kansas border as they seek to tell the history of the western frontier, the Kansas-Missouri Border War, and the enduring struggle for freedom.

I am pleased to report that our financial position remains strong. Through the diligent efforts of our team, we have overhauled our grant process so that more of our partners can access the types of funds they need – be it reworking a museum display or communicating it through an updated web page.

I am proud to share that our team of board members, staff, partners and volunteers has responded to new leadership, and that so much progress has been gained across all areas of our organization. My sincerest gratitude to you! The unwavering support for Freedom's Frontier has been instrumental in the realization of our goals during the fiscal year.

Warm regards,

Kevin Wood

Forging the Path

Throughout 2023, FFNHA has continued to make significant strides towards our mission of telling the stories of the struggles for freedom in our region and their lasting impact on our nation. We faced unprecedented challenges this year: navigating through the post pandemic era, economic uncertainties, and ever-evolving societal issues. Despite these obstacles, our dedicated team—in collaboration with our valued partners and supporters—has demonstrated resilience, adaptability, and a relentless commitment to making a positive impact in our community.

Some of our key achievements included:

- Obtaining a 15-year federal reauthorization
- Expanding our Bus on Us grant program
- Resuming regular partner meetings
- Helping obtain bi-state support in Congress for a bill establishing the Quindaro area in Kansas City, KS as a National Historic Landmark
- Joining partners to bring back the Disorder on the Border symposium
- Revamping the FFNHA project grant program

None of our accomplishments would be possible without the unwavering support of our donors, partners, volunteers, and dedicated team members. Your belief in our mission fuels our determination to create positive change and empowers us to reach new heights.

We look forward to meeting the opportunities and challenges that lie ahead. FFNHA remains committed to innovation, collaboration, and continuous improvement as we promote tourism and economic growth in each of our 41 counties.

I extend my heartfelt gratitude to each of you for being an essential part of Freedom's Frontier. Your belief in our mandate and our mission propels us forward as we continue to preserve the stories of our past.

- Lucinda Adams, Executive Director

Preserving History & Protecting Rights

Each region's history is unique. When President George W. Bush signed into law the act creating Freedom's Frontier National Heritage Area in 2006, it capped a years-long, grassroots effort from Kansas and Missouri volunteers to nationally memorialize this region's history. In the years since, similar efforts have gained traction across the country. In 2019, President Donald Trump created six new national heritage areas that now sit alongside FFNHA as part of the National Heritage Area program.

Established under President Ronald Reagan, the program was envisioned as an alternative to the National Park Service, one that would preserve history and private property rights at the same time. There are now 62 heritage areas from coast to coast, and just as each region's history is unique, the laws that establish and govern each heritage area are distinct.

The law that created Freedom's Frontier is black and white. It states that no land or organization is automatically "opted in" as a part of Freedom's Frontier. By law, no private property owner is required to participate in or be associated with Freedom's Frontier, nor can Freedom's Frontier own real estate or property. We have no influence over zoning or land-use regulations and no authority over mineral or water rights. Any entity or organization who partners with Freedom's Frontier must be within our congressionally designated borders; even then, we cannot require any entity or organization to partner with us.

Over the last 17 years, more than 250 museums, historic sites, and organizations across eastern Kansas and western Missouri have voluntarily partnered with us. Together, they help fulfill our mandate to spur tourism and economic development by raising awareness of the exceptional, foundational stories that define this region and everyone who calls it home: the settlement of the frontier, the Border and Civil War, and the enduring struggle for freedom.

Those core themes of triumph and struggle reveal the 41 counties that form Freedom's Frontier to be singular, vital components of the American saga. Our mission is to help tell their stories, simultaneously preserving our past and fostering our future.

2023 Grants Report

In fiscal year 2023, Freedom's Frontier awarded 16 Project Grants to our partners from a total of 26 applications. The funds shared nearly $38,000 with communities throughout our 41 counties in Kansas and Missouri.

The Bates County (MO) Historical Society received $1300 to bring back a community favorite that had lagged during shutdowns. They held a "Spirit Stroll" in which local people dressed up as foundational citizens and shared stories of the community's past with visitors.

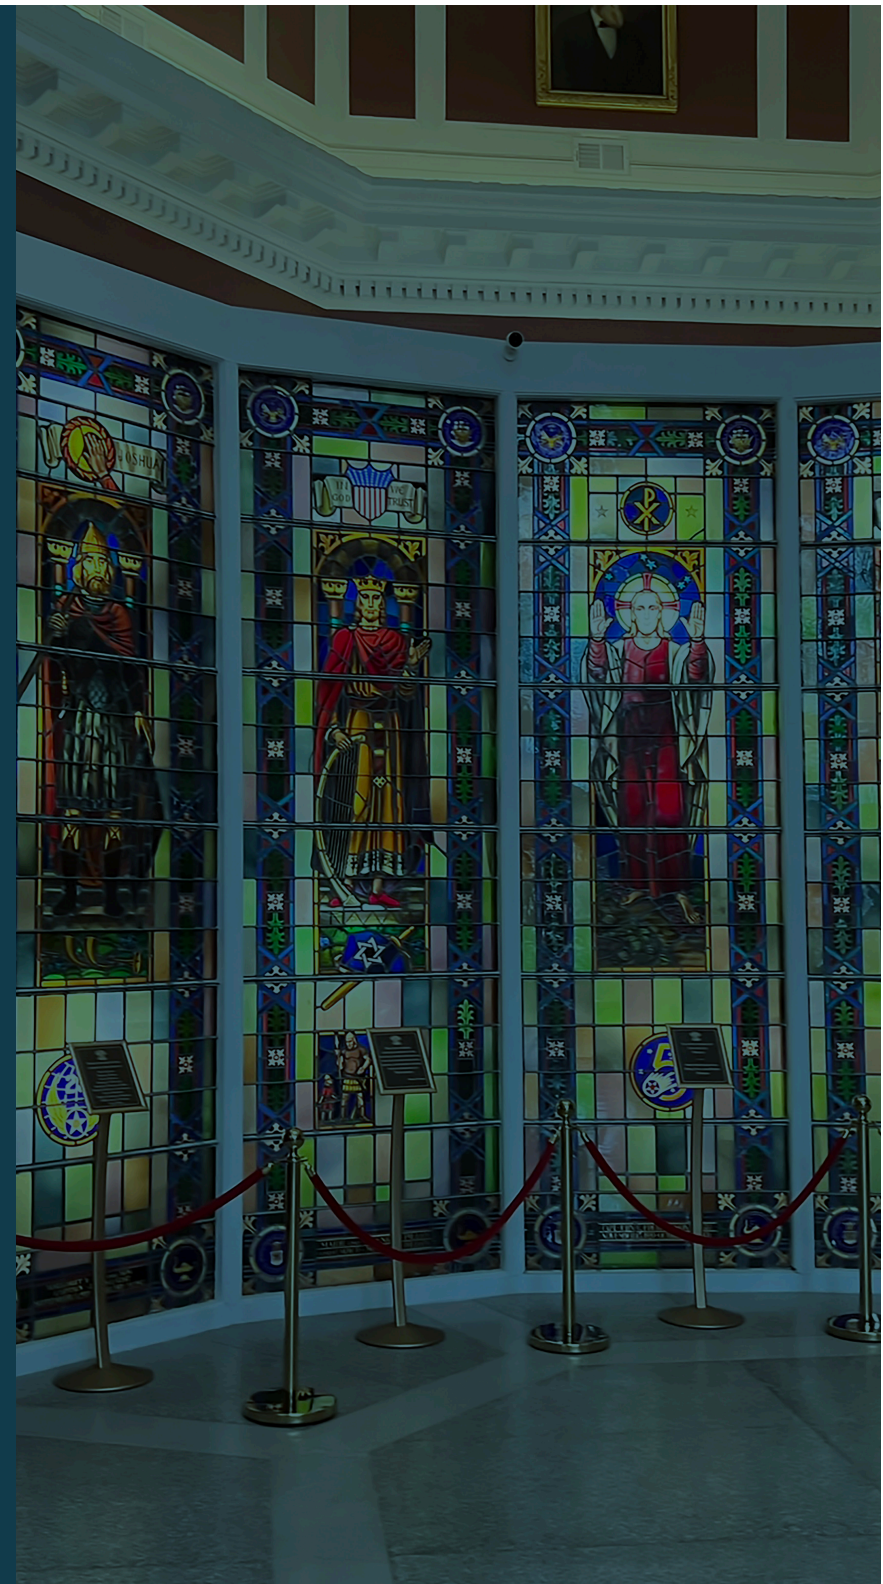

In Liberty, MO, the Clay County Archives and Historical Library upgraded their capacity to digitize records. With $2500, they were able to purchase several pieces of equipment to support current and future projects. They especially hope researchers will be able to search for genealogical records much more efficiently as a result.

In Lafayette County (MO), initial steps were taken to save a (Fredrick) Douglass School, so named for educating Black students during segregation. Volunteers used $2100 and spent hours cleaning out the structure to see what future steps may require.

The Independence (KS) Museum and Art Center is in the process of a large renovation. We contributed $2500 toward refinishing the original floor in a large open gallery of what was formerly the Post Office downtown.

Several structures at Old Jefferson Town (Jefferson Co, KS) were in desperate need of repair. They held fundraisers but were not able to cover all the costs, so FFNHA was able to offer $1650 toward painting and window repairs. This meant the historical society did not have to delay a few other projects they had been planning.

The Wornall/Majors House in Kansas City is working hard to attract a wider range of visitors. A Project Grant of $3000 helped them update their exhibits for both vision-impaired and non-English speaking tourists.

The Mt. Mora Cemetery Preservation and Restoration Association in St. Joseph, MO, received $2758 toward equipment to record the stories of past community leaders interred there. They hope to put these recordings online so they can engage the public more prominently.

Tying in with the national Alliance of National Heritage Area's 2023 theme of Environmental Justice, the Douglas County (KS) Historical Society applied for and received $1615 to expand "Maggie's Garden" outside the Watkins Museum of History. This area attracts both visitors and pollinating insects by providing native plants and informational signage at the park-like setting in downtown Lawrence, KS.

Coming up on a year of closure at the 1855 Harris-Kearney House, the Westport Historical Society used $1250 toward board development meetings to help prepare members of the Board of Directors for re-opening later in spring 2024.

In August 2023, another round of grants was officially funded, beginning with the Monticello Community Historical Society's desperate need for repairs to the museum building. Simply being able to lock the door securely was one outcome of their $3000 award.

An ambitious project by multiple partners was awarded $3000 to create a promotional video for museums throughout all southeast Kansas. With one grant, Freedom's Frontier was able to impact the entire southwest quadrant of the heritage area.

Lee's Summit (MO) Historical Society, in its efforts to preserve original buckskin clothing from a city founder, applied for and received $3000. They purchased an exhibit case to more safely and securely preserve this unique item for future generations.

In Tonganoxie, KS, the Community Historical Society was awarded $3000 toward upgrading their website. They plan to add a payment feature which will make it much easier for members to pay dues online or for visitors to submit donations from anywhere.

Topeka, KS, has multiple events planned by various groups to commemorate the 70th anniversary of the landmark Brown v. Board decision of 1954. The Black American Blueprint Collective was created for students to research the case, and then $3000 in funds will aid them in producing exhibits and lesson plans to share with schools in the area.

Active at many local festivals, the Wyandot Nation of Kansas received a $3000 grant to update and upgrade their traveling exhibit pieces and signage for visitors to learn from. They'll be better able to share their culture and heritage at school assemblies or field trips as well.

Finally, the Cass County (MO) Historical Society holds a yearly Log Cabin Festival in Harrisonville. A $3000 grant from Freedom's Frontier allowed them to expand their Civil War reenactment events and attract more visitors to this well-loved annual event.

Partner Meetings

Reconnecting our network

2023 marked the long-anticipated return of face-to-face partner meetings in Freedom's Frontier NHA. Held every other month on alternating sides of the Kansas-Missouri border, these essential gatherings are a vital component of FFNHA's mission to facilitate tourism and ensure economic development in Kansas and Missouri.

At each meeting, attendees from partner sites meet at partner sites throughout FFNHA's 41 counties to discuss best practices, participate in planning sessions, announce new initiatives and events, and tour exhibits at each host location – all while learning directly from their peers. Meetings are held at new sites each period, ensuring equal access and knowledge flow from the area's largest, most well-funded organizations to the region's most rural one-room museums and historical sites.

Virtual meetings were a necessary but imperfect substitute during the pandemic, and ongoing safety concerns forced the November 2022 and January 2023 meetings online.

However, FFNHA held its first in-person meeting in two years on March 23, 2023, at the Wyeth-Tootle Mansion in St. Joseph, Missouri. In May, attendees gathered at the Bushwhacker Museum in Nevada, Missouri. At each meeting, attendees reintroduced themselves and discussed operating in a post-pandemic world.

The Baxter Springs Heritage Center & Museum in Baxter Springs, Kansas, which was slated to host the March 2020 partner meeting before shelter-in-place orders were instituted, was finally able to hold an onsite meeting on July 10, 2023.

The September 2023 partner meeting was held at Brown v. Board of Education National Historic Park in Topeka, Kansas. There, Steve Nowak of the Watkins Museum of History in Lawrence, Kansas, and Sara Wilson of St. Joseph Museums in St. Joseph, Missouri, presented tips and techniques for acquiring grants and funding through collaboration with local partners.
