

Trail Ridge Road Alternate Routes

Trail Ridge Road (U. S. Highway 34) is the high road through Rocky Mountain National Park. Weather permitting, it is open from the Friday before Memorial Day Weekend until wintry weather and heavy snows close it, usually in mid-October to early-November. However, storms and unsafe road conditions can close Trail Ridge Road at any time.

Some alternate routes are listed below. All of these routes involve driving on winding mountain roads. Allow approximately 3.5 – 4.5 hours (or more) for alternate routes between Estes Park and Grand Lake, Colorado.

For the most up-to-date status of Trail Ridge Road, 24 hours a day, please call (970)586-1222. This line is updated any time the road's status changes.
