As the official nonprofit partner of the National Park Service (NPS), the National Park Foundation (NPF) generates private support and builds strategic partnerships to protect and enhance America's national parks for present and future generations.

Chartered by Congress in 1967, the NPF is rooted in a legacy that began more than a century ago, when private citizens from all walks of life took action to establish and protect America's national parks. Today, the National Park Foundation carries on that tradition as the only national charitable nonprofit whose mission is to directly support the National Park Service.

Since Congress established NPF as the official nonprofit partner of NPS in 1967, we've supported parks and their vital work through conservation and preservation efforts, connecting people with parks, and engaging the next generation of park stewards.

With more and more visitors enjoying our parks each year—putting new pressures on trails, roads, visitor centers, and the parks themselves—NPF is uniquely positioned to help fund both the preservation and growth of all our 430+ beloved national parks.

With the support of our donors, we focus on promoting programs and projects that protect precious landscapes, wilderness and places of historic significance.

We make our parks more resilient and sustainable through trail restoration, habitat protection, and infrastructure investments to ensure they remain places of enjoyment for current and future generations. And with the ongoing support of fellow park lovers like you, we'll continue this work for years to come.

Thank you for your continued support!
