

Apostle Islands National Lakeshore

Image Courtesy of the Wisconsin Historical Society WHi-3957

Ke-Che-Waish-Ke

1759-1855

Ke-Che-Waish-Ke (Great Buffalo) represented the Ojibwe people during treaty negotiations with the federal government in 1825, 1837, 1842, and 1854. The elderly and well respected chief traveled to Washington and persuaded the government to reverse the Indian removal order of 1850.

To learn more, visit: www.nps.gov/apis

NATIONAL PARK SERVICE