Coronado

National Park Service
U.S. Department of the Interior

National Memorial

Hiking Trails

CORONADO CAVE TRAIL (No Pets on trail OR in cave)
1 mile round-trip
Difficulty: Moderate
Elevation Change: 500 feet
The cave parking lot and trailhead is 0.25 miles west of the visitor center. The cave entrance is a 0.5 -mile hike from the trailhead. Entering the cave requires scrambling down a steep, rocky slope. The cave itself extends 600 feet in length and has 20-foot high ceilings. Two flashlights/headlamps per person is recommended. Please do not touch cave walls or cave formations

CORONADO PEAK TRAIL (No Pets)
0.8 miles round-trip
Difficulty: Easy
Elevation Change: 300 feet
This interpretive trail climbs from the trailhead at Montezuma Pass to Coronado Peak. Sweeping views of Sonora, Mexico and the San Pedro River and San Rafael Valleys can be enjoyed while resting on the benches under a shade ramada.

JOE'S CANYON TRAIL (No Pets)
6.2 miles round-trip
Difficulty: Moderate/Difficult
Elevation Change: 1300 feet
The trailhead is across the road from the west end of the visitor center parking area. The trail climbs 1000 feet in the first mile with scenic views of Montezuma Canyon and the San Pedro River Valley. After reaching the saddle of Smuggler's Ridge, continue for views into the grasslands of Sonora, Mexico. The trail can also be done in reverse starting at Montezuma Pass via the Coronado Peak Trail.

YAQUI RIDGE TRAIL (No Pets)
2 miles round-trip
Difficulty: Difficult
Elevation Change: 600 feet
A spur from the Joe's Canyon Trail, the trail descends steeply to the US/Mexico border. Here you can view International Boundary Marker 102. This trail marks the southern terminus of the Arizona National Scenic Trail, an 800+ mile trail that extends from Mexico to Utah. It is against the law to cross over the fence into Mexico.

CREST TRAIL (Pets allowed on leash)
4 miles round-trip inside park (10.6 miles round-trip to Miller Peak)
Difficulty: Difficult
Elevation Change: 4000 feet to Miller Peak
The trailhead begins at the northeast end of Montezuma Pass parking area and climbs for 2 miles to the northwestern park boundary where it enters the Miller Peak Wilderness Area. It continues along the crest of the Huachuca Mountains to the turnoff for Miller Peak, the highest peak in the range.

NOTE:
Pets are allowed on leash ONLY on the Crest Trail and the Desert Nature Walk.
Please do not harm or disturb any plants or animals, as federal law protects all flora and fauna found in the park.
Wood gathering and hunting are not permitted within the park.