Crater Lake Lodge

At Rim Village the Lodge is a large stone building which blends into its natural surroundings. Inside the spacious lounge, an inviting fireplace and rustic cocktail bar mean comfort and relaxation. Sleeping cabins and deluxe cottages nearby are furnished with linen and blankets. Excellent food is available to the public in the fine cafeteria and the Lodge dining room.

EVENINGS ARE FUN: Nightly lectures, illustrated with color slides are given before the huge Crater Lake lounge fireplace or at the Community Building and Mazama Campground. Here you can learn the background of the many colorful names of points of interest, such as Llao Rock from which the slain Indian god, Llao, is supposed to come forth to stir up storms on the Lake.

CRATER LAKE LODGE

FAWN AT RIM

Mountains, lake and trails blend together to give the tourist a playground for fishing, boating, hiking or just plain loafing.

Completely encircling the rim of the lake, a fine highway discloses startling new vistas every few minutes.

NATURE'S WONDER PRODUCES MAGNIFICENT LAKE

The earth gave vent to one of its greatest eruptions when Mt. Mazama "blew its top," and formed a crater to become the world's most beautiful lake. More than 21 square miles, the lake is surrounded by towering walls 500 to 2,000 feet above the water and accented by rugged prominences, such as Cloud Cap and Llao Rock.

Adding to the interest and beauty of the lake are the two islands, Phantom Ship and an inactive cone, Wizard Island.

Discovered in 1853 by John Wesley Hillman the lake is 1,932 feet deep maintaining a constant temperature. Melting snows furnish water for the crater, but there is no apparent outlet. Many lakes vie for their "blueness" but here is one of the world's seven wonders — a gem of deepest blue.

WALKER'S PARADISE

Many engaging trails are offered, varying from short walks to hikes of several miles; Garfield Peak Trail—1.6 miles or Wizard Island Trail—1.1 miles are two examples. Benches are placed to invite the hiker to pause and breathe the pure mountain air and exalt in God's handiwork or enjoy the frisky chipmunks and golden-mantled ground squirrels. Castle Crest Wildflower Garden provides a pleasant half-mile stroll for non-hikers to admire the lovely blossoms. The Park's trails offer magnificent views and interests. Daily walks are led by Park naturalists, experts on rare flowers, birds, and animals.

WILDLIFE AND FISHING

The Park abounds with Blacktail and Rocky Mountain Mule Deer. Elk and Cougars have been observed but are rare. Squirrels, Marmot, and Cony may be watched by the lover of wildlife.

Black bear are common but the brown bear occasionally seen is actually a black bear in another color phase. Feeding or teasing the bears is forbidden. "Blackie", an amusing fellow, may sniff near your picnic table, but it is best to leave him alone.

The Lake is stocked with Rainbow Trout and Kokane Salmon. Row boats are available for rent, and no fishing license is required.

VISITOR CENTER

Sinnott Memorial Overlook, located inside the Caldera wall directly below the Exhibit Building, has perhaps the most spectacular view from the rim. Powerful glasses have been focused on points of interest and daily lectures are given here by the Park Naturalists. Inside are exhibits of the Park geology and a fine collection of pictures.

ACCESS AND CAMPING ACCOMMODATIONS

Broad, paved highways lead to Crater Lake. Main highways (No. 62) from Medford, and (No. 97) leading into (No. 62) from Klamath Falls are open all year—providing access to skiers throughout the fall, winter, and spring. All entrances into the Park and the majestic rim drive are open during the summer months. (See map on other side.)

WINTER COFFEE SHOP: Light lunches, films, gifts, etc., are available to the public during off season.

Fact and Legend

Many legends describe the awe in which the Indians hold Crater Lake, but one story tells of a band of Klamath Indians on a hunting trip who found themselves on the towering rim of the Lake. Struck by the intensely blue depths and the island with its own smoking crater, they were sure it was the home of Llaos, the Great Spirit. Feeling they intruded, the band descended the slopes to make camp a fitting distance away.

One of them could not resist the lure of the majestic site and came the next day to make camp on its rim. After three nights he grew brave enough to descend the steep sides and bathe in the water.

Soon he became the strongest warrior and his powers induced others to follow his example. These, too, became great in strength, but their new source of power ended for the first bold Indian killed one of the creatures living in the lake. The young warrior was sought by hundreds of Llaos, as the Lake creatures were called, and killed. According to legend, "Death will come upon any Indian who even dares to gaze upon the blue waters of Llaos Mountain."

BOAT TRIPS

Cleetwood Trail is a 1.1 mile path that zig-zags gently down to the water's edge. Located here are dock facilities for rowing and fishing as well as three 30 passenger launches which circle the lake or take you to Wizard Island and the Phantom Ship. A Park naturalist goes along on two of the trips each day to describe and explain the beauty of Crater Lake.

A Chevron Station handling all Standard Oil Products is located in the Park. The station is open from late May to late September.
