

CORPORAL PETER HARBAUGH

Was 22 when he joined the army. As a corporal, he would have been responsible for the training and appearance of the soldiers. At the battle of Gettysburg, he found himself lying behind a stone wall near Little Round Top with his closest friend as the enemy came toward them.