

PRIVATE WILLIAM MCGREW

Was a 22-year-old shoemaker, living in nearby Mummasburg when he enlisted in Company K. His skills as a shoemaker may have come in handy throughout the company when the men marched day after day on the hard, dusty or muddy roads of the 19th century.