GLACIER NATIONAL PARK

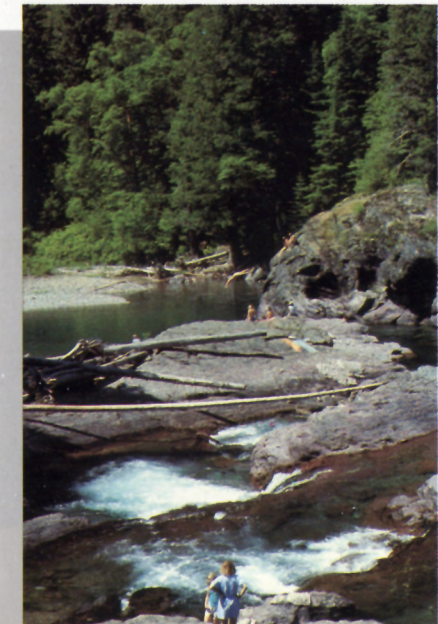

A Place Touched By Magic

■ It is a land where nature is truly in harmony—from its awesome peaks and thundering waterfalls to its emerald lakes and 50 ancient glaciers.

Glacier National Park along with its Canadian counterpart, Waterton Lakes National Park, spreads across 1.4 million acres of untouched wilderness. Clear skies and rugged peaks outline fresh green meadows, sparkling mountain lakes, and flowing streams. Native flowers abound and wildlife roams in a setting preserved for all future generations.

And blending into this natural scene with grace and majesty are six lodging facilities. Dating back to 1913, each of these facilities has an ambiance and charm of its own—with easy access to hiking trails, picnic areas, ranger/naturalist programs, and lots more.

Whether you choose to see Glacier National Park by taking advantage of its more than 700 miles of backcountry trails, or by relaxing on a narrated tour by bus or boat...or from the vantage point of your hotel balcony...you will experience a return to an unspoiled America...because Glacier National Park is truly a place touched by magic.

Many Glacier Hotel

Built in 1914, Many Glacier Hotel is located on the shore of Swiftcurrent Lake at the foot of Grinnell Glacier. With more than 200 rooms, Many Glacier is the Park's largest resort.

A Swiss motif prevails here—from the huge surrounding peaks that resemble the Matterhorn to the hotel's dining room, decorated by colorful flags representing each of the Swiss cantons.

Many Glacier Hotel also boasts a special tradition dating back to the early 1960s, as students recruited from drama and music departments of over 200 colleges stage entertainment including excerpts from Broadway musicals, concerts, sing-a-longs and serenades.

The "curtain goes up" on similar entertainment at Lake McDonald Lodge and the Prince of Wales Hotel.

Lake McDonald Lodge

Situated on the west side of the Park, Lake McDonald Lodge, a complex of 100 rooms, has an atmosphere of the Old West. Built in 1913 as a private lodge, the hotel's paneled lobby sports trophies of mountain goat, elk, moose and sheep and a fire burns throughout the season in a massive fireplace decorated by pictographs that are alleged to have been drawn by famed Montana cowboy artist Charles Russell.

The Prince of Wales Hotel

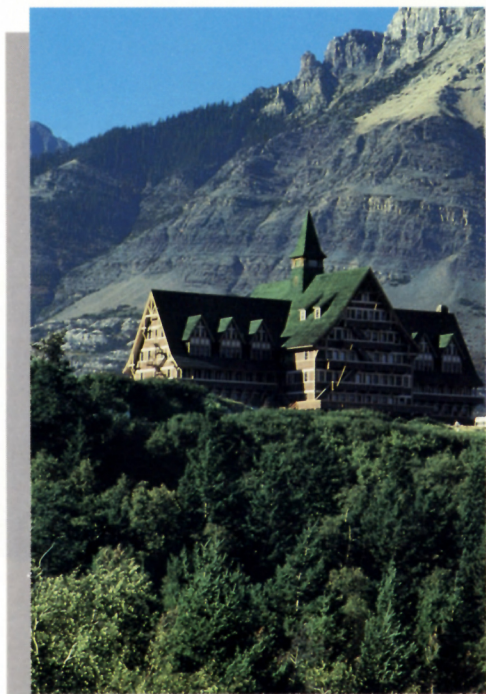

The Prince of Wales Hotel in Canada stands majestically at the north end of Waterton Lakes and overlooks the longest unguarded frontier in the world.

This magnificent 81-room gabled structure has three-story high lobby windows that look out on a chain of lakes that stretch to the horizon.

Here English high tea is served every afternoon. Guests can also enjoy the opportunity to browse in a gift shop that is known for its English flair.

The Inns

Complementing the three main lodges and hotels are three smaller inns that have a quaint charm of their own.

The Village Inn, a 36-room facility, is located just inside the west entrance to the Park in Apgar. Overlooking spectacular Lake McDonald, this modern inn offers a number of rooms complete with kitchen facilities.

The Rising Sun Motor Inn is a 72-room motel and cabin facility located in a popular campground area that offers a beautiful view of St. Mary's Lake.

The Swiftcurrent Motor Inn is situated in the center of the Park near Swiftcurrent Lake and offers 88 motel rooms and cabin units that supplement the accommodations at Many Glacier Hotel.

*Camp store and coffee shop facilities are located at both Rising Sun Motor Inn and Swiftcurrent Motor Inn.
