Discover Volunteer Opportunities at New Bedford Whaling National Historical Park.

Preserve America's treasures.

Share untold stories.

Improve your community.

You can make a difference!

Volunteers at New Bedford Whaling National Historical Park help present the diverse resources associated with America's most successful whaling port in the 1800s.

Volunteers are needed at several locations, including the National Park Visitor Center, New Bedford Historical Society, New Bedford Port Society, New Bedford Whaling Museum, Schooner Ernestina, Rotch-Jones-Duff House and Garden Museum, and Waterfront Visitor Center.

Some of the positions include: tour guide, museum guide, information desk staff, research assistant, office assistant, maintenance, graphic and web design, special events planner, marketing assistant, and photography. We especially welcome educators, residents of many of the area's diverse communities, and those seeking to gain experience in an exciting, historic location. Time commitment and work schedule varies by organization and position. Uniform (if applicable) and training are provided.

Bring history to life.

Give back to your city.

Lead walking tours and museum programs.
