Foreword

This is the eighth semiannual announcement of recent Research and Development Series publications.

You have been selected to receive this product announcement, either as a result of a request made by you or someone on your office's staff or because of your position in natural resource research or management. If you prefer not to receive future announcements, please send us the mailing label and a note indicating that you wish to have your name removed from our publication announcement mailing list.

How to Order

After each publication listing is an entry in brackets. This acronym identifies the organization that distributes that publication. A listing of abbreviations and the associated addresses is given below.

These publications are available free (unless otherwise indicated) until the supply is exhausted; then you will be asked to purchase needed publications from the National Technical Information Service (NTIS) or the U.S. Government Printing Office.

When ordering a publication, please identify the series name, number, author(s), and title. This will ensure a rapid and accurate response.
