

White Sands Trip Planner

In the heart of the Tularosa Basin lie the glistening white sands of New Mexico. Here, wave-like dunes of gypsum sand cover 275 square miles of desert, ever changing and always advancing. White Sands National Monument preserves a major portion of the dunefield, along with the plants and animals that have adapted to this harsh environment. Visitors to southern New Mexico are invited to explore this vast, undulating landscape of brilliant white sand.

Park Regulations	White Sands National Monument is a protected natural area. Removal or disturbance of archeological or natural objects, including sand, selenite crystals, plants, and animals, is prohibited by law. Stay on the road and park only in established parking areas. Driving on the dunes is not permitted. Speed limits are posted and enforced.	Alcohol is prohibited within the park from February 1st through May 31st. Beer kegs and glass bottles are prohibited year round. Ground fires are prohibited. Metal detectors and fireworks are prohibited. Pets are welcome and must be leashed and under control at all times. Please pick up after your pet.
Safety Tips	Drink plenty of water! We recommend one gallon (4 liters) of water per person per day. Wear hat, sunscreen, and sunglasses. Bring and eat high energy snacks like granola bars to keep you going. Pick sledding spots carefully. Never sled near or into the road, and look out for plants. Pull off the road into an established parking area before stopping.	Hiking alone is not recommended. Always tell someone where you are going and when you plan to return. Off-trail hiking is not recommended because it is easy to become disoriented. Do not tunnel into sand dunes. Tunnels collapse easily and can cause suffocation. Sledding and sand surfing can cause injuries —be careful.
